Free chat

If you are going to make money by streaming in a free chat, the best strategy is to attract as many members as possible. The chat is free, so you will only earn if the members tip you. The tip amount usually depends on the model's show; even a little teasing and flirting will help you earn more Tokens. Besides the free chat, you can earn in private and group chats.

Free chat

Private chat

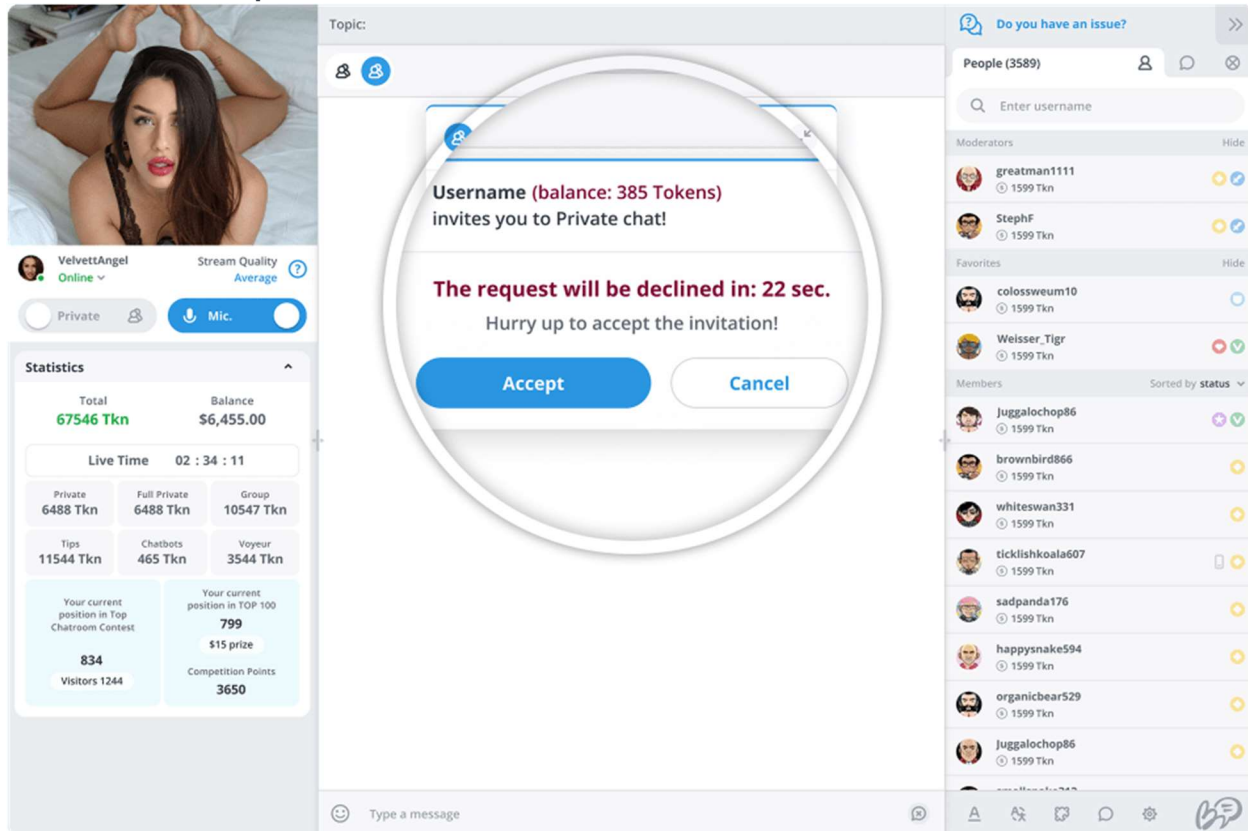

A member with Tokens can invite a model to a private chat by clicking on the "Private Chat" button in the chat room. The model decides whether to accept or decline the invitation. If the model accepts the invitation, the private show begins.

The model sets the price of a private chat in the console settings before the stream starts. The default price is 60 Tokens per minute. For example, if a member spends 10 minutes in a private chat, the model earns 600 Tokens (10 minutes × 60 Tokens).

A private chat ends automatically if the member runs out of Tokens. The model or the member can also end the chat at any time. The model can disable the private chat invitation option. To do this, in the streaming console in the "Chat settings" section, click on the switch next to the "Allow private chats" field.

Full-private chat

A member can also choose to have a full-private chat, which differs from the regular private chat in that other members can't spy on them in Voyeur/Spy mode. Being in a full-private chat, the member can be sure they enjoy the show alone.

The price of a full-private chat is set independently by the model in the streaming console – in the chat settings section. The default price is 90 Tokens per minute. For example, if a member spends 10 minutes in a full-private chat, the model earns 900 Tokens (10 minutes × 90 Tokens).

A full-private chat will automatically end if the member runs out of Tokens or if the model or the member decides to end the chat (this can be done at any time). The model can disable the full-private chat invitation option. To do this, in the streaming console in the "Chat settings" section, click on the switch next to the "Allow full-private chats" field.

Tips

The members can tip you to thank you for the show, to express their wishes, or to get your attention.

Usually, if a member sends a tip that doesn't match the price of any of your services and doesn't ask for anything in return, they just want to please you. In response to a tip, we advise you to express your gratitude by using the "Tip Response" chatbot.

However, if you have agreed on something with the member in advance, or they have paid for the service from your menu, then you must do this.

Spy mode

The members can spy on the private chat, but the spy mode doesn't allow them to chat with the model. The default price for spy mode is 15 Tokens per minute, while the model can set their own price in the console settings.

Group chat

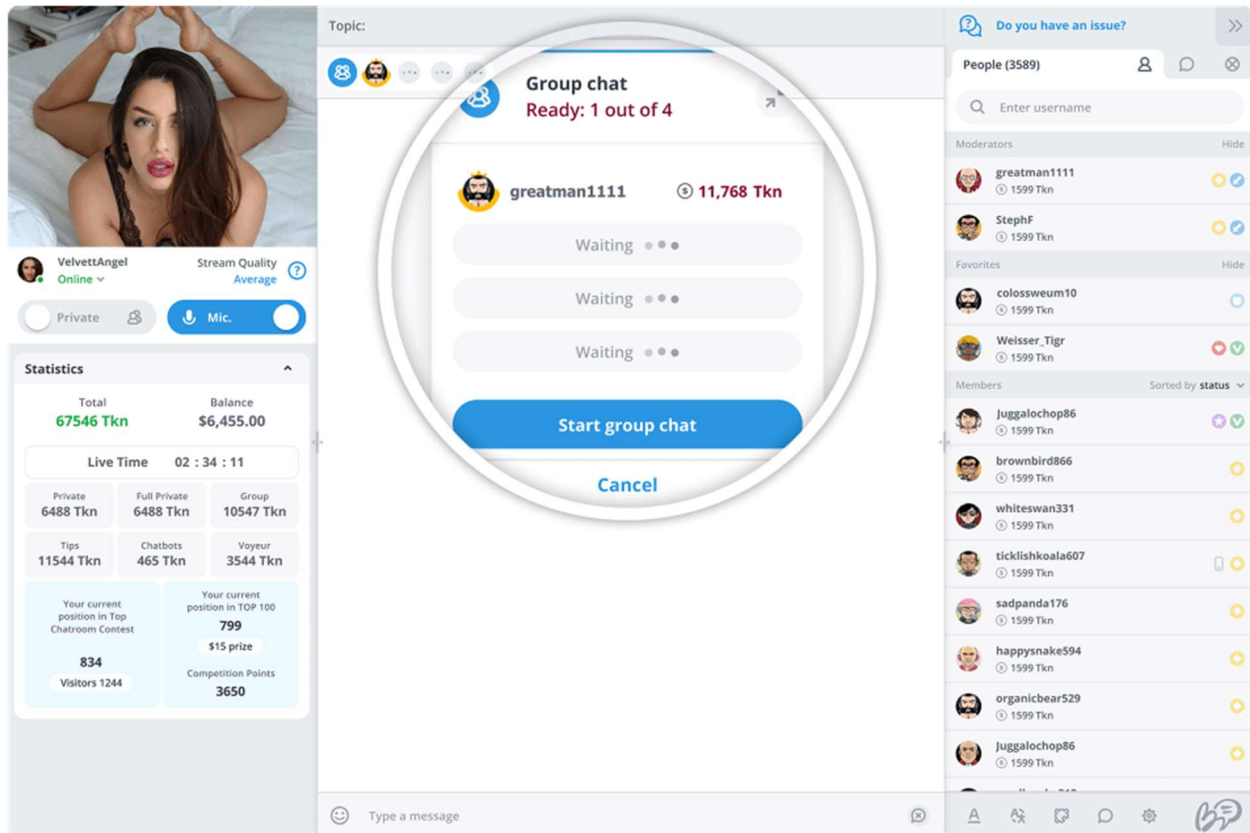

To start a group chat, the member must click the "Group Chat" button in the model's chat room. The group chat will begin once there are enough members. The model can change the desired number of group chat participants in the console settings.

The model can also start a group chat, even if only one member is in it. To do this, click "Start group chat". An unlimited number of members can join later.

The model sets the group chat price in the console settings before starting the stream. The default price is 30 Tokens per minute.

The group chat will end once the last member leaves or runs out of Tokens. In addition, the model can end the group chat herself. The model can disable the group chat invitation option in the streaming console in the "Chat settings" section by clicking on the switch next to the "Allow group chats" field.

How to become a successful model

Introduction

Chatting with members can be very diverse, but the most exciting format is audio and video. Verbal communication is essential for all members. Personal contact makes your time with them more valuable and natural.

Image quality

When in front of a camera, show your involvement in communication.

For example, when you look away from the camera, you seem uninterested in what is happening, which makes an unpleasant impression on the members.

Earning on BongaModels

Stay positive and energetic during the stream. The tip size, the number of private chats, and their duration almost entirely depend on your enthusiasm and how actively you communicate with the members of your chat. Most importantly, don't forget to smile!

To attract more members, it is better to use a high-resolution camera and choose the right angle and lighting. The members are much more likely to enjoy streams with a clear image, and according to the statistics, they are more likely to leave tips in such chat rooms.

If you plan to purchase high-quality equipment, your investments will pay off very soon!

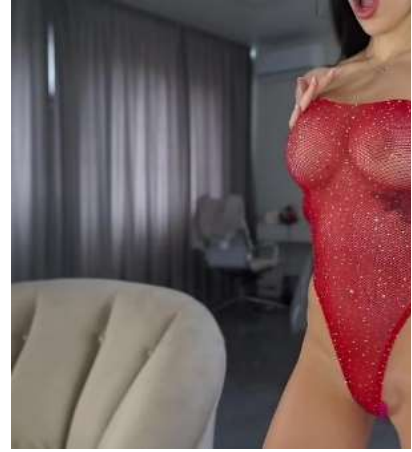

NB! We highly recommend streaming through the OBS app to improve video and audio quality. Learn more about OBS.

Outfits

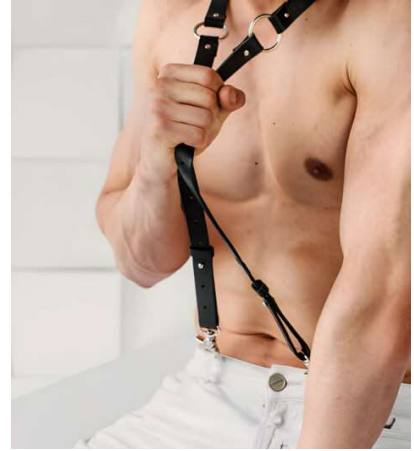

The members pay close attention to outfits. Successful models carefully create their looks to make a strong impression. You can also ask members what they would like to see you wear.

Women's outfits

Try to look classy and choose the outfits that make you feel sexy. Remember that the ideal outfit emphasizes the highlights of your body, hides flaws, and inspires self-confidence.

Men's outfits

Men, like women, should show their individuality and be creative in choosing an outfit. Strive to create something unique for your chat members.

Makeup

As a rule, the face looks less expressive on the screen than in real life, so we recommend using darker and brighter shades for makeup when streaming.

Properly selected cosmetics will successfully emphasize all the advantages of your appearance. You can significantly change your look depending on your wishes – make your eyes more expressive and your lips brighter. As a result, you will become more self-confident. Get creative – use all available means to create your desired look.

Manicures and pedicures

Remember that you can't hide anything from the camera, so you must take care of your look. Even the nails should look good, although they are much less noticeable than the face. Nail care is a natural part of your daily grooming routine and will keep you looking great while streaming. Manicures and pedicures can be quite simple and inexpensive.

Pose and posture

A beautiful pose (as well as the ability to maintain and change it) is essential and makes a model more attractive to members. Body language can express many emotions. Status and self-confidence are transmitted in how you move and use the space around you. Take it into account when setting up equipment and creating your streaming environment.

Also, remember that your ability to stay in front of the camera significantly affects what emotions and impressions the audience has from your show.

Hair

It is difficult to overestimate the importance of beautiful hair. Creating an attractive and interesting hairstyle is integral to preparing for streams.

Women's hairstyles

Make sure your hairstyle emphasizes your fashion style and other appearance features.

Style your hair the way you prefer. Be seductive while being sincere. The simpler your style, the more likely members will perceive you as a real person. Always stay true to yourself and showcase your beauty to the fullest.

Don't be afraid to use accessories to make your look more interesting. Get creative!

Men's hairstyles

Men are also encouraged to take care of their hair. Make sure that your hair is always clean and well-groomed.

Background

There are many tips on how to use interior design for streaming best. It's very simple; the main thing is to create a suitable environment. The members will immediately notice if it doesn't suit your style or show. You shouldn't use numerous small elements to create an entourage – they clutter up the space.

Use different decorations to make the interior design more attractive. When choosing a decoration color, consider your skin tone, hair, eyes, clothes, etc. The better you arrange the space, the more welcoming your chat room will look to members.

Camera angle

It is worth changing the camera angle from time to time. For example, try placing the camera higher or lower instead of shooting everything at eye level in a horizontal orientation. Sit down with the camera above your head, change the background, move to a different location, etc.

For your convenience, you can use the camera with a remote control to change the angle at any time and adjust the image brightness from a distance. The remote also lets you quickly turn off the camera, even if it is not at hand.

Camera lens

The success of your streaming depends not only on the equipment quality. You also need to ensure optimal working conditions. Be sure to keep the camera lens clean and safe.

Lighting

A good image will make your stream stand out from other models. The results will be much better if you pay more attention to proper lighting.

Before you start streaming, set up your camera in different places and find the location with the best lighting. Do not constantly shoot only from the front or side. Experiment and look for new angles.

If you go online via a web camera, avoid extra bright lighting, which can make the image blurry and fuzzy. At the same time, use additional light sources so that less shadow falls on you during shooting.

Examples of optimal lighting

Proper lighting is an essential factor in ensuring streaming success. The best way to avoid issues is to get ready in advance. Try experimenting with indoor lighting in different conditions and positions. The more effort you put in, the better your streams will be.

Let's take a look at the following examples:

Notice the key differences in color and brightness.

To ensure good lighting, you need to use the most suitable lamps.

Only by creating the optimal lighting for shooting can you achieve high-quality streaming and guarantee the best experience for your chat members. For the sake of members, you should constantly evolve as a model and acquire new valuable skills.

The response time for a paid question is 3 days. If you don't want or have time to answer the member's question, it will be automatically deleted after this time, and the Tokens will be returned to the member's balance.

Please note that if there is a complaint about the response content or any inconsistencies or other violations are detected, the Tokens charged for the question will be returned to the member.

How do I deactivate a sex questionnaire?

You can deactivate a sex questionnaire in your personal account on the “Sex Questionnaire” page. To do so, switch “Allow members to ask questions” OFF. In this case, all posted questions and responses will be hidden from your profile, and members won't be able to ask you paid questions. You can reactivate the sex questionnaire at any time by turning the switch ON.

Why do I have no paid questions from members yet?

If you have activated the sex questionnaire, but there are no questions, it means that members haven't yet had time to ask you anything. To attract members' attention to the sex questionnaire, try to fill out the form in the most interesting and meaningful way and remind them about the sex questionnaire during streams. We also don't recommend setting a very high price. This way, you can start receiving questions from members as soon as possible.
