

Stripchat user-level system

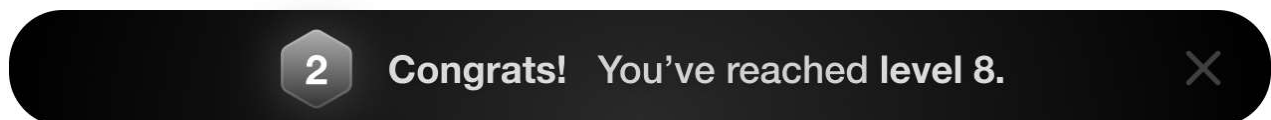

Models

On Stripchat you can see Guests – users who haven't registered –, Ultimate members, and 7 different leagues of users comprised by 100 different levels in total.

When users use the site, they earn experience points (XP for short), which is what makes them level up. They have various ways to earn XP when they are in the first league, which is the Grey one. From the following ones upwards, the only way to earn XP is by spending tokens. Then you know that the higher league they're in, the more tokens they have spent along the way.

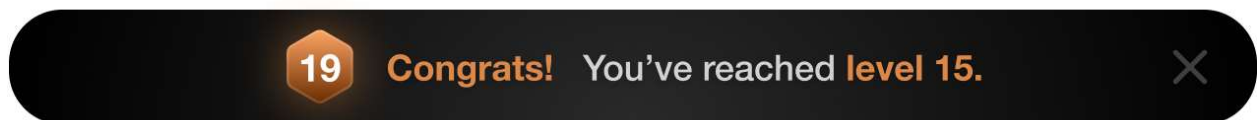

You can find the user-level system explained here.

Every user has a badge with the color of their league and their level on it. You can see this information checking the user list or in the user card. To avoid confusion, here is a list of all user types.

Grey League

When a user creates an account, they immediately become a Grey user on level 1, and they will stay in this league until they make their first token purchase. However, they might have tokens in their account if they won them in the giveaways. Grey users have a grey badge. You can disable the chat in your room for this type of user.

Bronze League

The moment a user makes their first token purchase ever, they become a Bronze user on level 10. From this league upwards, the only possible way to level up is spending tokens. Bronze users have a bronze badge and can become ex-Bronze if they run out of tokens.

Congrats! You've reached level 26.

Silver League

Silver users have a silver badge and can become ex-Silver if they run out of tokens.

Congrats! You've reached level 38.

Gold League

Gold users have a gold badge. They can't become ex-Gold even if they run out of tokens.

Note that Gold users from our previous user-level system won't turn into Gold users from the Gold league, but rather Ultimate members.

Congrats! You've reached level 70.

Diamond League

Diamond users have a purple badge. They can't become ex-Diamond even if they run out of tokens.

Congrats! You've reached level 75.

Royal League

Royal users have a red badge. They can't become ex-Royal even if they run out of tokens.

Legend League

This is the top league. Legend users have a red badge with a distinctive star. They can't become ex-Legend even if they run out of tokens.

Ultimate membership

What used to be the Gold membership in our old user level and subscription system, is now the Ultimate membership. Therefore, our old Gold users now turned into Ultimate members – perks remain the same; they have the ability to private message you, send anonymous tips, use the invisible mode, and become Knights. So if you need a right hand to help you moderate your room and get rid of abusive or rude users, you can turn to your loyal Ultimate members and designate them your Knights.

You will identify Ultimate members by their distinctive orange badge with a star in the chat. An Ultimate member can belong to any league, so if for example they are Diamond, they will have their username in purple color plus the Ultimate badge.
