

What is Account Holder?

What is Account Holder?

Models

The Account Holder is the lead model for accounts with multiple registered persons. They are present in every broadcast and, on independent accounts, receive all payments. If you want someone else to receive the payments, you can create a studio and attach the model account to that studio.

This feature is available for studios, studio models, and individual models. The country category is set in accordance with the Account Holder's ID.

There can be only one Account Holder on each account. You can check your Account Holder in My documents. By default, the earliest registered model on the account is set as the Account Holder.

For new accounts, the first approved person will be the Account Holder. Account Holder is chosen automatically without the possibility to change it.